Biography

A well traveled coach with nearly twenty five years of coaching experience, in addition to previous collegiate roles in recruiting, operations, and program management.

Statement

A wise coach once said, "You don't coach football; you coach people to play the game of football." It is important to remind one's self that this game is about people. Thus, caring about them, supporting them, being loyal, and giving everything you have back to them will create something much greater than a final on a scoreboard. I would rather be known for helping positively mold players than my win/loss record, but I also know a great coach can be successful in both.
